

A delegation of future business leaders recently visited SembCorp Utilities UK at Wilton International to gain a better understanding of manufacturing industry.

The Confederation of British Industry's (CBI) Future Leaders Programme aims to give people from a wide variety of backgrounds as wide an appreciation of business as possible.

Bob Moodie and Jackie McQuire (second left) hosted the visit and took the visitors on a site tour and to the new Wilton Biomass Power Station (pictured).

The visit was organised by the North East Process Industry Cluster and NEPIC Chief Executive Stan Higgins (far right) provided an input.

The group embraced people from a number of business sectors in the north east including legal, financial, medical, educational, manufacturing, entertainment and transport.

The CBI is the UK's leading independent employers' association, representing public and private sector organisations.

Utilities' Jane Atkinson was voted the CBI's 'Woman of Achievement' for manufacturing at a ceremony at the Dorchester Hotel in London in June
